Affirmation 1

As I adjust my spending habits, my financial situation improves.

I know that it takes focus to repair my finances and I'm willing to invest that time to elevate to my next financial level.

When desires come, I examine them according to my values and goals.

Instead of being consumed by what I want right now, I balance both the present and the future to make a decision that serves my highest good.

When I shop, I bring a list with me in order to buy only the items that I've intentionally decided on.

I'm free from the pressure to compete with others and I'm grateful for the abundance of what I already have.

Reflection Question:

1. What do I want my financial situation to look like?
2. What is the driving force behind most of my purchases?

Affirmation 2

Chipping away at a big task keeps me focused and quickly builds momentum

When I have a big goal to achieve, I divide it into a series of small tasks. Each task is easily accomplished, so I can dive right in.

Completing these mini-goals keeps me going and drives me forward to success.

Once I make my plan and get started, I know without a doubt that I can succeed.

Often, the hardest part is getting started. So I schedule the quickest, easiest tasks to get started right away.

As I complete more and more of these small tasks, I feel the force of my momentum pushing me forward.

Reflection Question:

1. Am I procrastinating on starting a large project right now?
2. What's the easiest task I can put at the beginning so I can get started right away?

Affirmation 3

Exciting opportunities abundantly appear in my life.

New opportunities surround me every day. All I need to do is recognize them and take the leap of faith.

I have an abundance mindset that keeps my mind open to these new opportunities. Each morning I greet the day with excitement and anticipation.

I give thanks for my blessings and wonder what good this day will bring. When I search for the good in my day, I often find beautiful, hidden gems.

I explore all options of the moment in my mind and take decisive action to seize those opportunities that can benefit me.

When challenges arise, I expect that there is a solution and I seek it out. I inevitably find it and continue happily toward my goal.

Reflection Question:

1. Do I expect that good things will happen to me each day?
2. How can I encourage myself to take swift action on the opportunities I find?
